RUTH CONROY DALTON
Department of Architecture and the Built Environment
Northumbria University
Email: ruth.dalton@northumbria.ac.uk

Ruth Conroy Dalton is a Professor of Building Usability and Visualisation. Dalton’s research interests are centered around the relationship between the spatial layout of buildings and environments and their effect on how people understand and interact in those spaces. She is an expert in space syntax analysis and is passionately interested in the use of virtual environments as a method for researching human factors in the built environment.